ROMEO COLEMAN

was born and raised in the inner-city of Cleveland, Ohio. He attended Cleveland Public Schools and graduated from Glenville High School in 1966.

He began his interest in cameras in 1964 as a hobby which he enjoys very much. He enjoys mostly taking pictures of nature and states; “it helps me enjoy Gods creation”. He also enjoys portrait photography with natural backgrounds. As an initial self-taught photographer, he read lots of books on photography and wasted a lot of film practicing what he learned. As a teenager employed at a local supermarket, he used his tips to finance his hobby. After high school, he attended Cuyahoga Community College to enhance his skill as a photographer. This education led him to attending portrait schools in New Orleans, Mobile, Alabama, and Arizona. In 1994 Romeo began his wedding and professional portrait experience, opening a studio in 1997. He has used many cameras but prefers the Canon brand. He has previously used models such as; AE-1, T80, EOS 630, EOS Élan, EOS IX Lite, EOS Rebel XT and the newest being the EOS 40D. EDWARD KAMPOSEK

Edward Kamposek spent his earliest years in Cleveland and the greater part of his childhood in the suburb of Euclid. He received his Bachelor of Science and Master of Science degrees in Mathematics from Cleveland State University in 1984 and 1990, with some coursework at Indiana University. For the past 24 years, he has been working and growing at his position as Noise Compatibility Officer for the Cleveland Airport System.

Edward is constantly reading nonfiction over a wide variety of subjects. An avid birder since early on, his interest in photography began with a love of travel and blossomed after digital cameras made it possible to take an unlimited number of images at essentially no cost. Now he takes his camera with him most weekends while exploring nature locally.

He explains that the two photographs of Horned Grebes included in the exhibition were the result of spending a few morning hours searching for a rare bird. "An Eared Grebe had been spotted at the Gordon Park Marina. I sought the bird unsuccessfully during a Saturday afternoon in early April. I learned late that day that it only had been seen close to shore during the morning hours. I resolved to look for it early the next morning. The Eared Grebe appeared that day but not until well after I had left. The morning remained worthwhile since I enjoyed photographing the more common migrants and their surroundings in a creative way." For more information, please contact Edward at edak776@netzero.com.
